OSCAR MAYER

Yellow Band WIENERS

Served exclusively at Wrigley Field. Delicious, wholesome, fine quality U. S. Gov't. inspected meat—the same pure, tasty and mild wieners that all Chicago prefers . . . the best you can buy at your neighborhood market.

 INSIST ON THIS YELLOW BAND!

When you serve wieners at home, be sure to get Oscar Mayer Yellow Band Wieners. They have all the fresh juicy flavor that makes them so popular at Wrigley Field.

Wrigley Field Offers You Thrills and Healthful Recreation

Wrigley Field is especially designed for you and your family. Every care has been taken to make it a place where you really enjoy yourself—forget your cares—have a good time at small cost in the healthful out-of-doors.

Your convenience and comfort always come first. Attractive restaurants—comfortable seats—modern bleachers—convenient restrooms have been added to make your afternoons "watching your Cubs play ball" more fun.

Today Wrigley Field is famous as "America's finest recreation center" both for the teams and for the loyal fans who support them.

In the field today are 38,396 seats, laid out as follows: 19,357 grandstand seats (13,726 in the lower deck and 5,611 in the upper); 14,059 box seats (8,949 in the lower and 5,110 in the upper), and 5,000 roomy bleacher seats.

Official Ground Rules for Wrigley Field

A ball hitting the railings or screens above the out-field coping, or the top of coping itself (which extends from left to right field foul lines) and bouncing back onto the playing field remains in play and is not a home run.

A ball in play which lodges in the gutters before players' dugouts or which hits concrete in front of the dugout and bounces back onto field remains in play.

A ball in play which hits the rack holding the players' bats in front of the bench or one which goes into the dugout is declared "out of play" and the runner is allowed to advance one base.

A batted ball which lodges beneath the gratings which cover the gutters in left or right field is a ground rule double (two base hit).

A ball lodging under the gratings which cover the gutters at either side of home plate allows runner to take one base on pitched ball—two bases on thrown ball.

Pitched ball going into net behind home plate permits runner one base; thrown ball permits runner two bases.

A ball hitting below black stripe is a two-base hit if it bounces into foul territory; a home run if it falls into bleachers; remains in play if it bounces back onto playing field.

Reserved Box Seats may be purchased in advance: at any of the 100 Western Union offices in Chicago; by sending check or money order to Wrigley Field Ticket Office; or at Wrigley Field Box Offices A and B.

Rain Checks may be exchanged at the box office for any championship game of a later date. Rain checks are void after a game has progressed 4½ innings provided the Cubs are ahead. If Cubs are behind, however, rain checks are not void until the last half of the fifth inning has been played.

Ladies' Day: Send self-addressed stamped envelope to Ladies' Day Ticket Office, Wrigley Field. One ticket per envelope will be returned to the sender until the supply has been exhausted. A 10-cent government tax must be paid on each ticket at "tax" windows on day of game. Those wishing a box seat for Ladies' Day game should return ticket and 55 cents to Box Office, Wrigley Field, in advance, or present ticket and 55 cents at any Box Office on day of game. This does not include 10c Government Tax.

Special Group Seats: The management is prepared to make special provision for groups attending Wrigley Field in a body. Large or small blocks of seats may be reserved for social and fraternal bodies or salesmen's or employees' get-togethers. Reservations must be made in advance. Simply drop a line to Wrigley Field Ticket office or call us at BUCKingham 5050 to let us know that you're planning to bring a party to Wrigley Field for a special "day" and we'll be happy to arrange all details for you.
